Access Health Colorado is Pleased with Supreme Court's Decision to Uphold Subsidies

Denver, Colo – As a health plan dedicated to expanding access to affordable and high quality care, Access Health Colorado is pleased with the Supreme Court's decision to affirm insurance subsidies for individuals and families who have purchased health insurance through the federal exchange. Although the ruling does not affect Colorado, since it participates in the state-based marketplace, they are pleased to see that millions of Americans across the country will be able to keep their health insurance because of this ruling. Colorado is committed to healthcare coverage for all Coloradans and is in full support of this mission. They look forward to continuing to meet consumer needs in Colorado with high quality, affordable health plans.

About Access Health Colorado:

Founded in 2013, Access Health Colorado is a local health plan participating both on and off the Colorado Health Insurance Marketplace also known as Connect for Health Colorado. Its mission is to expand access to care and educate Coloradans about their health plan options. Access Health Colorado was established by Colorado Access, a local, nonprofit health plan. Colorado Access serves more than one million individuals with Medicaid, Medicare or Child Health Plan Plus (CHP+).
